An Open Letter of Appreciation

To the People of Andover:

Our three year fight to obtain a square deal for Massachusetts Mutual companies is at an end. On October 30th Governor Saltonstall signed the Non-Assessable Bill thereby making Massachusetts the forty-eighth state to eliminate the assessment clause requirement for qualified mutual companies. This means that our century-old Andover companies can hereafter do business throughout the country on an equal basis with mutual companies of other states. We are confident this will aid us materially in eventually bringing more business and more employment to Andover.

Assistance of Townspeople

It is a pleasure to make public acknowledgment of the wholehearted cooperation and encouragement given to us in this campaign by the people of Andover. Without the generous support of our town officials, business and social organizations, and the hundreds of individuals who helped us place our case before the legislature, it is very doubtful whether we would have been able to cope with the strong organized lobby opposing the bill.

Cooperation of Legislators

We also wish to thank the legislators from this section who carried the ball for us and made ultimate victory possible. Although the current session of the General Court was the busiest on record, they gave ungrudgingly of their time to keep our bill moving in the right direction despite every conceivable parliamentary obstacle that could be devised by the opposition. Our grateful appreciation to Senators Lane of Lawrence, and Montminy of Lowell; to Representatives Collins of Andover, Schlapp and Pedler of Methuen, Ballantine of Lowell, Twomey, Barry, Brooks, and Batal of Lawrence, Priest, Cusson, and Pothier of Haverhill.

These men who help to make your laws are conscientious and public spirited citizens. They deserve your support.

More Prosperity for Andover

Like other communities the welfare of Andover is largely dependent on the economic wellbeing of its people. That the people of Andover realize this is attested by the way in which they responded to our call in this emergency. More than ever we think that Andover is a good place in which to live and work. It is our aim to merit your continued good will by doing everything within our power to make Andover an increasingly prosperous community.

» » ARMISTICE DAY « «

Andover took time out from one of the busiest periods in its history this week, to give a proper celebration to a particularly memorable Armistice Day. The current prosperity in local mills and shops, as well as the significance of the anniversary of the close of the last war falling on what may be the eve of our entrance into the next one, were two factors giving the local celebration a spontaneity and enthusiasm the like of which Andover has not seen for years. And from 7:30 Monday evening to the close of the V. F. W. oratorical program Tuesday, it was a typical American observance of a patriotic American holiday, conducted in a typical American way.

Armistice Eve

Punchard was to play on the holiday. Circumstances were a bit more significant than in the thirty contests which had taken place in previous years. In all that time, Punchard had been directed by Eugene V. Lovely, and had compiled a most decisive year-after-year average over a traditional foe, losing only five times. This year, however, the Punchard team was under new guidance, playing its first year of football under a new coach, Anton Kishon, who had come to Andover with a very favorable record behind him.

True, neither team looked formidable on paper. Punchard had lost three games in a row, tied two, won one. Methuen had won one, lost six. But the annual Armistice Day game had, in the past, never failed to bring out the best effort of both sides.

In view of this, the Punchard alumni association had been planning, for some time before the game, something unusual in the way of a night-before rally. Monday night saw their completed plans perfectly carried out.

At 7:00 that evening, marchers began to assemble in the spacious parking lot behind the Memorial Auditorium. At 7:30, led by the snappy Girls' Band, horns blaring in a line of perhaps thirty automobiles, flares glowing from more than a hundred swinging arms, the parade moved downtown, swung along Park and Main streets before a good representation of townspeople, snake-danced up Bartlet street to its starting point.

On the steps of the auditorium, an enthusiastic rally was led by the cheerleaders, and several military numbers were played by the Girls' band. Members of the football squad, who had ridden with the parade, spoke briefly to a large assemblage, half hidden in the uncertain glow of the torchlights and flares.

After the rally, most of those attending adjourned to the Memorial gymnasium, where dancing was enjoyed to the music of Donald Lundgren's recordings.

Next Morning

Andover's morning celebration of a significant holiday took the form of a parade by the American Legion, its bugle and drum corps, and other service organizations in the town. All marched to the Legion lot in Spring Grove cemetery, where memorial exercises were conducted.

Rev. Herman C. Johnson, featured speaker of the day, issued a strong appeal for preparedness and national unity of spirit. Mentioning that nations endeavored to win wars more by sacrificing men than by building up their own armament, he said that such conflicts, and all their attendant sorrows, could be prevented in the first place by building up a formidable military strength and using diplomacy to avoid international difficulties. The large loss of life suffered by the expeditionary force sent to France in the last war, he pointed out, could have been prevented by better field equipment and more adequate training for the men.

"We should be careful not to make those mistakes again," he concluded. "Those lives were lost in 1917 and 1918 because of lack of preparedness. If war comes to this country once more, the lives lost in it may be charged to the differences between capital and labor so seriously hampering the progress of preparedness in the present emergency. A day of production lost now means another life needlessly wasted in the future."

Commander Harold A. Wood of the local Legion post led the march to Spring Grove cemetery, and Lewis A. Mears, post chaplain, was in charge of exercises there. Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., gave the invocation at the opening of the ceremony, and taps were played over the Legion dead by the Junior Bugle and Drum Corps.

That Afternoon

Feature of the Armistice Day celebration was Punchard's surprisingly good showing and eventual win over a strong Methuen eleven. The final tally was Punchard 27, Methuen 0, but the game was a lot closer than the one-sided score would indicate.

Methuen was deep in its own territory, and in possession of the ball, when, late in the first quarter, David Markert intercepted a pass by Methuen's Tommy Dorsey—no relation, jitterbugs—and went over without a hand being laid on him. In the third period Henry Buntin, who played one of the best games we've ever seen a Punchard back exhibit, went over from the 6-yard line, after personally conducting a drive from the Punchard 41. Later that same period, Buntin scored again with a 16-yard end run. Punchard's drive that time starting from around the midfield stripe. In the fourth period, after Markert had intercepted another pass to put the ball in scoring position, and Buntin had staged a brilliant personally conducted tour to the twelve, Punchard was able to hammer out its final touchdown.

The statistics of the game gave Punchard as clean-cut a margin of victory as the score did. They had more first downs than Methuen, 13 and 8, and made 189 yards rushing to the Methuen 118. Punchard proved that it didn't have a "punt" in its title for no reason at all by averaging 40 yards per kick to Methuen's 30.

Henry Buntin, as we said, contributed the best performance of the game, and, for that matter, of the local team's entire season. He did the bulk of the ball-carrying, he made several solo open-field jaunts, caught two passes, made two touchdowns, and carried the ball 26 times for a total of 145 of Punchard's 211 yards gained. Gil Hamlin furnished him with excellent blocking, scored one touchdown, made three extra points. Dave Markert was outstanding on defense; for that matter, the whole line held up well.

Additional color was furnished by the bands preceding the game and during the halves. Both bands played the Star-Spangled Banner just before the kickoff, and spelled out their rival's initials during the half. Everyone knows, of course, that the Punchard Girls' Band is one of the outstanding aggregations of its kind in these parts. The Methuen cohorts are champions in their own right, were divisional leaders last year, and are every bit as good now as then.

After the game, celebrating Punchard's first win over Methuen since 1937, a brief impromptu rally took place at the high school.

In The Evening

A fitting climax to the day was provided by the oratorical contest sponsored by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post, and staged in the Memorial Auditorium. The winners were selected by Judges Miriam Putnam, Memorial Hall librarian; Nathan C. Hamblin, retired Punchard principal, and John Colby of the Phillips Academy faculty. Winner of the $18 first prize was Virginia Stevens, Punchard '42; the second prize, $12, went to Betty Costello, '42; the other awards, $9 and $5, to Robert Lawrence and Everilda Collins, respectively.

Other speakers in the contest were Patricia Cohn, John Erving, David Brown, Virginia Stevens, Gertrude Wolff, Clifford Stowers, Nancy Gahan, and Althea Morrison.

The V. F. W. post, by the way, takes this means of publicly thanking Miss Lillian Fox of the Punchard faculty for her untiring efforts in training a well-informed group of young Americans to proclaim publicly the glory of American history with very patriotic and informative essays.

During the exercises, Principal Eugene V. Lovely of the high school read a letter of thanks from Supt. of Schools Kenneth L. Sherman, thanking the Andover post for its gift of two beautiful flags. One, the American flag, was presented to the Girls' Band some time ago; the other, a school banner, was more recently presented by the post, and the Punchard emblem was painted on it by Miss Alice Olliff, supervisor of art in the public grammar schools. Miss Jean Gilfoyle, drum majorette of the band, made the formal address of thanks, while Commander Walter R. Ebersbach responded in behalf of the Veterans.

The committee in charge of the Armistice Day program were Robert V. Deyermund, chairman; Thomas L. Raidy and William Snyder.

Red Cross Drive Opens; Present Membership List Must Be Doubled

More Than 100 to Canvass; Record For Best Year Is Most Favorable

Opening on Armistice Day, to continue until the end of this month, is the annual roll call of the local Red Cross chapter. During the coming weeks, solicitors will call at every Andover home in the hope of signing up all wage earners in town. Contributions may also be sent to Philip F. Ripley, Andover treasurer.

The chapter is earnestly urging all citizens this year to try to assist in some way, as the demands on the organization, both locally and nationally, are greater than ever before.

Fifty cents of every contribution goes to national headquarters in Washington, where the burdens imposed on the society have been greatly increased since last year's canvass. The cost of assistance to war-torn Europe and to the national emergency defense is mounting every day; and already over $6,000,000 has been spent for activities with the American armed forces in training.

Last year's quotas must be doubled, and as a result, Andover must enroll twice its present membership to even try to meet the demands now so urgent. Unless a generous response is forthcoming, a National Defense drive in early spring may be necessary.

Last year, 3104 members were enrolled in the Red Cross drive, and a sum of approximately $6000 was raised, $1100 more than in the previous year. Supplementary funds received from time to time made possible expenditures of $7692.47 this year.

Public health nursing was, as usual, the largest item in the Red Cross bills, costing it $2587.06. Milk cost $918.95; other expenditures were dental care, $125.65; hospital, $143.75; tuberculosis, $324.78; glasses and medicine, $93.20; training for Poms Pond life guards, $83.72; food, $151.94; shoes and clothing, $151; rehabilitation, $49.84; first aid, $70; Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets, $429.93; and fuel, $4.25.

The total for work in Andover amounted to $5125.07. Well over $1000 of this amount was spent on the Andover school children, while, in the year, the district nurse made 1507 calls. During the past year, local women have made 7466 garments for British relief, costs for this work amounting to $2467.40. One hundred shelter kits were sent to the women in England at a cost, to the local chapter, of $100.

This year's officers of the Red Cross are C. Carleton Kimball, chairman; Thaxter Eaton, vice-chairman, Philip F. Ripley, treasurer, and Francis P. Markey, secretary. The directors are: Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., Ralph N. C. Barnes, Mrs. Frank L. Brigham, Douglas S. Byers, Miss Margaret Curran, Dr. Charles A. Currier, Mrs. Roscoe E. Dake, Mrs. Henry F. Dearborn, Harry I. Emmons; Mrs. George F. French, Dr. Claude M. Fuess, Mrs. Mitchell Johnson, Frederick H. Jones, Miss Anna W. Kuhn, Stafford A. Lindsay, Kenneth L. Sherman, Mrs. Charles D. Thompson, James L. Toohey, and Clarence S. Waugh.

The Roll Call chairman is Stafford A. Lindsay, and the secretary is Mrs. C. Edward Buchan.

Workers in the Roll Call drive will include:

THIS WEEK'S COVER

If the above cut looks like our front cover, it's no coincidence. A few weeks ago we were contemplating a cover in keeping with the Red Cross roll call drive which started this week. We ran across this picture, being used in Red Cross campaigns throughout the country, and thought it might be a novel idea to duplicate it with Andover residents. No Marines or Air Corps representatives were available, but in this week's cover photo you can see Private Edward Coates, U.S.A., a former Townsman linotype operator, Pauline Howe of Arundel street, and Signalman Charles Bailey of the U. S. S. Augusta.

McCarthy Made Chief Of Lawrence Station

Recently appointed by Dr. Paul Jakmauh, state commissioner of health, to the important post of head of the Lawrence Experimental Station of the state water and sewage laboratories, was Joseph A. McCarthy of 26 High street. In his new post, he will be in charge of inter-station relations among the various laboratories throughout the state.

Mr. McCarthy was formerly chief chemist at the Lawrence station, having served there, except while affiliated with the 76 Division, Q.M.C., during the World War, since 1910. He has always been actively interested in Andover community affairs, is vice-president of the Taxpayers' Association, and served for some time as an election warden.

Curtis Resignation

After 13 years of service, Walter E. Curtis of Dascomb road resigned, last week, his position as trustee of the Spring Grove cemetery. First appointed to the board in 1927, he had served continuously until now, and had been chairman for several years.

Ill since last December, Mr. Curtis has not been able to attend meetings of the board for the past several months. His present term was due to expire in 1943.

Educational Life

Teachers' Convention

Andover school officials took a prominent part in the meeting of the Essex County Teachers' Association, held last Friday in the Converse Hall of Tremont Temple, Boston.

Dr. Claude M. Fuess, Phillips Academy headmaster, delivered one of the principal addresses of the afternoon. He told some two hundred fellow teachers that he deplored the idea fixed in the minds of business men that education was something extrinsic to their needs or interest, though it is really of great importance to them that they receive a constant and well-regulated supply of trained workers. The school teacher, he said, is rewarded, not by material gain, but by the satisfaction received from moulding children intelligent and conscientious citizens.

Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., pastor of St. Augustine's church, gave the invocation at the meeting.

Supt. of Schools Kenneth L. Sherman, retiring president of the association, presided. Milton C. Blanchard, submaster of the Junior High school, directed a corps of ushers from the local school department. William L. McDonald, of the high school faculty, is head of the committee on audit for the County Association.

Guidance Meeting

A meeting of the Citizens' Committee on Vocational Guidance was held Thursday evening, November 6 in the guidance room of Pynchard High School. Mrs. Emma G. Carter and Edward C. Manning, guidance counselors in the high school, reported on the work done in their department since their appointment last year. George P. Haley, vocational counselor in the Massachusetts Department of Education, spoke of the splendid work done by the counselors, and commented on the complications of a guidance program under present conditions and in channels of work which may be opened up in the future. Kenneth L. Sherman, superintendent of schools, expressed his satisfaction with the work accomplished to date, and his appreciation of Mr. Haley's help. Mr. Haley has served in an advisory capacity to both school department and committee since the fall of 1940.

Other committee members present were: Miss Fannie Davis, Miss Miriam Putnam, Mrs. A. Graham Baldwin, Mrs. C. Edward Buchan, Nathan C. Hamblin, Wallace Brimer, Winson Gale, John Little, John Bradhead, Eugene V. Lovely, and James Hart.

Son Of Former Pastor Narrowly Escapes Injury

Word was received here this week that Robert Overstreet, 7, son of Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Overstreet, formerly of this town, had a narrow escape recently when struck down by a truck.

Robert was intently watching a crew of building workers at the time, and failed to notice the approach of a truck, which, in swinging into a nearby filling station, knocked him down. Fortunately, the vehicle was moving very slowly at the time, and Robert, though actually run over by the two rear wheels of the truck, escaped with a few scratches. Rev. Mr. Overstreet now has a pastorate in Newport, R. I.

Everything from soup to nuts is included in the dinner to be given the winner of the Thanksgiving dinner whist party to be held tonight by the V. F. W. in its rooms in the Musgrove building. The public is invited to attend.

And speaking of the V. F. W., it won't be long before you'll be able to listen to a life and drum corps which the local post is planning to organize. Membership will be accepted only on the recommendation of the candidate's school teachers and parents, according to Adjutant Robert V. Deyermund.

TOMORROW—Around the World Fair In Vale

The annual fair and entertainment sponsored by the Service League of the Union Congregational Church will be held tomorrow afternoon and evening. The doors will be open at 3 o'clock for the sale of articles, with no admission charge. The theme this year is "Around the Village Square."

An entertainment will be held in the evening, with the doors opening at 7 o'clock. Tickets are priced at twenty-eight cents for adults and seventeen cents for children. Entertainment from Boston has been engaged, as well as local talent, and the public is offered a pleasant evening as well as a chance to do their Christmas shopping early. Tickets are on sale by the children, or may be purchased at the door.

TOMORROW—8th Annual British Veterans' Ball

The eighth annual military ball by the British Empire War

Veterans' Association will be held tomorrow evening in the Memorial Auditorium. Hastings' Broadcasting Orchestra has been engaged to play for dancing, and many novel features are planned.

The Clan McPherson Pipe Band and the Veterans will take part in the ceremony of presentation of the colors, and there will be a grand march at 10:00. George Addison, James Mitchell, and Alexander Duke will be masters of ceremonies, and Norman K. MacLeish is in charge of the general program.

It is expected that many sailors from British warships now undergoing repairs in Massachusetts ports will be in attendance at the dance.

TOMORROW—Sorority Dance In Parochial Hall

The Sorority of Our Lady of St. Augustine's church will hold a dance tomorrow evening in the parochial school hall. The event is scheduled to get under way at 8:00, and refreshments will be served during the course of the evening. Music will be furnished from a large collection of recordings, and the admission is 25 cents, including tax.

SATURDAY—Undeclared Andover In 56th Exeter Clash

When Andover and Exeter clash this Saturday at 2:00 on Exeter's Plimpton Field, the Royal Blue's supporters will see an undefeated Andover team go into action at full strength. This past week has witnessed a series of long grilling scrimmages for Coach Steve Sorota's charges, and they are entering the final stretch in top form as far as both condition and morale are concerned.

On the basis of the season's record thus far, Andover has a slight edge, having beaten by a 9-7 score a Yale Frosh team which whipped Exeter 19-0, and having beaten the Bowdoin Frosh 25-0, while Exeter just managed a 7-6 win last Saturday. On the other hand, Exeter showed plenty of strength against a powerful Hebron eleven, and has been coming up fast. Anyway, would-be prophets have long ago learned by experience that comparative scores mean nothing in these contests, that anything can happen when these two arch-rivals meet.

break for the second time the jinx that Plimpton Field seems to hold for Andover football teams. They will rely in large measure on a sparkling passing attack which has netted them a goodly number of points thus far this season.

Andover will be sparked by Captain Ken Keuffel, who has been a student at halfback all season, together with his running mate Tex Furse, but the whole team works as a well-coordinated unit and depends on evenly-distributed power rather than on a few stars. All the starting eleven but one are Andover-trained products, most of them having been at the school for at least three years.

In the long series of Andover-Exeter contests, Andover has won 28, Exeter 27; so this year's encounter gives Exeter the added incentive of evening the score.

Andover's starting line-up is as follows: le, Furman; lt, Beardsley; lg, Twombly; c, Rockefeller; rg, Carrington; rt, Luce; re, Davis; qb, Vose; rhb, Keuffel; lhb, Furse; fb, Duden or O'Leary.

SUNDAY—Boosters' Day For Andover All-Stars

They had one scheduled on a Sunday some time ago but, through no fault of theirs, the event was cancelled. Next Sunday, the Andover All-Stars, local amateur football team, which has lost only one game in the current season, meet the Ballardvale team at the Andover playstead, and this time the Boosters' Day celebrations will receive the support it deserves.

The All-Stars looked more impressive than in any previous start last Sunday, when they defeated a strong Haverhill Y. R. A. team by a score of 13-0. Halfback Parsons sparked the local team, returning a punt 55 yards for the first score.

office, will be donated to the Service Club's vocational fund when, next Tuesday and Wednesday, the Andover Playhouse presents the Merrimack Valley premiere of the celebrated French film, "The Baker's Wife."

In its record-breaking run in New York City, the film set a new attendance record for a French movie in this country. Raimu, the greatest of all French comedians, is starred in "The Baker's Wife," which is written by Jean Glono, and directed by Marcel Pagnol. There are complete dialogue titles in English by the celebrated American novelist and wit, John Erskine.

Liberty magazine, in its weekly motion picture review, gave the film four stars, and Hollywood has shown its approval by giving it an award as the finest French film ever to be shown in this country. Dorothy Thompson noted newspaperwoman, devoted a complete column to "The Baker's Wife," saying that one sees such a film "once in a blue moon." The New York Times termed it "Scandalously funny . . . a true comedy and a delightful one," and recommended it "for many reasons, not the least being its proof that the French have not lost the gift of laughter and the ability to communicate it to others. But the bulwark of the comedy is the baker himself, the great god Pan who goes by the name of Raimu."

The picture has drawn endorsement from celebrities in every walk of life. Albert Einstein calls it "the finest and most human film I have ever seen."

Other features on the program will be Ignace Paderewski in "The Maestro, and the latest March of Time, "Peace with Adolf Hitler," as well as a Walt Disney cartoon

Service Club Hears Travel Talk Tonight

Members of the Andover Service Club will congregate in the Square and Compass Club this evening to hear an illustrated travel talk, entitled "Out Where the West Begins and Ends," by Professor Franklin C. Roberts of the Boston University faculty. Jesse Bottomley, resident manager of the Shawshen Mills, will be guest of honor at the meeting, which is to be preceded by a dinner at 6:15. Dr. Nathaniel Stowers, chairman of the Fellowship committee, announces that a number of free dinners will be awarded lucky members attending.

November Club To Hear Gallup Poll Editor

The November Club guest night will be held next Monday at 8:15 p. m. William A. Lydgate, editor of the Gallup poll, will speak on "The How and Why of Measuring Public Opinion."

Mr. Lydgate became associated with Dr. George Gallup in 1935, when the American Institute of Public Opinion, of the Gallup Poll, as it is popularly known, was founded. He has had the editorial direction of the soundings taken on literally every question of consequence, economic and social, as well as political, confronting the American people in all walks of life. Mr. Lydgate also edits this vast commentary and interprets its significance in regular bulletins sent out to the 125 newspapers which subscribe to this service. These reports are more frequently quoted than any other single source of information on public sentiment.

The Dramatic Department will meet at the home of Miss Bessie Goldsmith, 60 Elm street, on tomorrow afternoon at 3:00.

Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor will give her second lecture on "History in the Making" at 9:45 a. m. next Wednesday.

Girls' Friendly Society Elects

The Girls' Friendly Society, at their business meeting Monday night, elected the following officers: Ruth Saunders, president; Doris Hilton, vice-president; Agnes Deyermund, secretary; Helen Smith, treasurer and Thelma Beck, publicity chairman.

After the business meeting, the girls made Christmas candles under the direction of Miss Bessie Goldsmith.

The following people comprise the new P. T. A. membership committee: Mrs. Harry Emmons, chairman; Mrs. L. Denis Peterkin, Mrs. Arthur Jenkins, Mrs. Edward Dowd, Mrs. Roger Higgins, Mrs. C. Carleton Kimball, Mrs. August Wirtz, Mrs. Norman Bearse, Mrs. Clarence Weeks.

On December 2 there will be a tea in the cooking laboratory of the Junior High School, for the parents and teachers of the 8th and 9th grade pupils.

Community Association Will Meet To Save Hall

An important meeting of the Ballardvale Community Association is to be held Monday evening, which all Vale residents are urged to attend. Its purpose is to master a sufficient number of members in order that the Community Hall, which, during recent years has been greatly improved by the society, may be kept open for the benefit of Vale residents.

A few years ago, the Vale's Village Improvement Society disbanded, and the only hall available for community gatherings was closed. Shortly afterwards, the Community Association was formed, and the hall reopened. Today it has an up-to-date heating system, and a seating capacity for 175 people.

This year, however, too few members have appeared at the society meetings to make an election of officers for the season seem worth while, and it seems that the hall will again be closed if Ballardvale residents do not make it a point to turn out in large numbers for next Monday's meeting.

P. T. A. Bridge and Whist

The ways and means committee of the Ballardvale P. T. A. will hold a party on Tuesday evening. Bridge will be played at the home of Mrs. James Schofield, while whist will be enjoyed at the home of Mrs. George Brown. There will be many Thanksgiving prizes.

Shawsheen Women's Club

The Co-operation with Disabled War Veterans Committee of the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club will appreciate any donations of money or gifts from the members of the club to fill Christmas bags for disabled war veterans. At the Paradise restaurant in Lawrence, Tuesday evening, Andover Post 8, American Legion, held a dinner in observance of the day. Chaplain Lewis N. Mears offered a short prayer for the Legion's departed comrades, and Commander Harold A. Wood gave a short address appropriate to the occasion.

The next Legion meeting, it was announced, will be held on Saturday, November 22, the regular meeting date falling on Thanksgiving. Legionnaires attending will find an unusual treat in store for them, for an oyster stew will be served immediately following the meeting by Adjutant Joseph McCarthy. There is an "R" in November, and a large attendance is expected.

One Fireman Killed, Two Injured As Department Answers False Alarm

"One Andover fireman was fatally injured and two others are on the danger list at the Lawrence General Hospital as a result of a crash Tuesday night at the railroad bridge on Central street. The crash occurred when the entire department was called out by the sounding of Box 25. When the department arrived at the box they found that it was a false alarm."

No, of course it's not true. But it could be, and whoever sounded that false alarm last Tuesday night might have been guilty of manslaughter for having called out all Andover's expensive apparatus, to say nothing of all her firemen, on a needless run. Obviously the box was sounded by one of our over-exuberant football fans who think that a Punchard victory over Methuen gives them carte blanche to commit acts of vandalism. Fun is fun, but bringing out a fire department needlessly is not fun.

The worst part of it all is that it's not Punchard students who commit these acts; it's some of our young men who have possibly recently graduated from school or were asked to leave—minus a diploma—young men whose mental status obviously never did catch up with their advancing age. And yet, people in other towns think that these young men are Punchard students, and even if they suspect that they're not, they know that they come from Andover. We don't care for that particular type of citizen. After all, at a certain period in a person's life he is supposed to grow up.

Keep Up The Standard

Andover is to be congratulated on the very excellent showing that it made in the recent Community Chest drive. For a town which once showed considerable apathy and, in fact, antagonism toward the thought of a Community Chest, to lead all the surrounding towns in the drive is something of which the town can be very proud. To A. Graham Baldwin, general chairman for the drive, should go much of the credit for the excellent showing throughout the entire district and to Andover's chairman, Kenneth L. Sherman, and his enthusiastic workers, extra praise is due for the record-breaking performance in Andover.

Another group of workers have started their annual appeal. Little need be said about the work of the Red Cross, but there is much that could be said. Here in Andover and far afield, the money that is donated annually in the Red Cross roll call is money for which much more is received than its actual monetary value. This year, more than ever, the Red Cross needs your help. It has never failed anybody; let's not fail it.

Wanted — Lady Volunteers

How many of you remember the influenza epidemic of the first World War days? How many of you remember those rows upon rows of tents on Lawrence's Tower Hill in which the communities' medical staffs and corps of nurses labored unceasingly in their efforts to bring comfort and recovery to the hundreds who fell victims to the germ? It was a noble work, but it could have been much easier for those workers if there had been sufficient farsightedness, in those days, to have provided beforehand a volunteer nurses aid corps.

This time let's not be caught napping. The world is in the sorry state that it is in today only because it did not have the foresightedness to prepare itself against Hitlerism, and today everyone is in a mad rush to get arms, arms, and more arms. But the military part of warfare is far from being the only part, and that is why everyone should give enthusiastic support to such organizations as the Volunteer Nurses' Aid Corps, now being enrolled and trained by the American Red Cross.

Here in Andover we already have a committee working on this very necessary project. They need volunteers! They need women who are willing to do their part by undertaking instruction given by the Red Cross and local medical authorities in order that some day, when the call comes for their assistance, they will be ready to serve as assistants to graduate nurses, ready to undertake the routine tasks and thus relieve the trained nurses for the more specialized work.

Andover's committee consists of Mrs. Henry Dearborn, chairman; Dr. John J. Hartigan, Miss Margaret Curran, Mrs. Lotta Johnson, Miss Anna Kuhn, Mrs. William Kurth, Mrs. Samuel Resnik, and Mrs. Charles Thompson. Let's have the list of their volunteers a long one, one of which Andover can be very, very proud.

Communications

To the Editor of the Townsman:

Dear Sir: I was surprised to read in your article on the Punchard School in the Townsman of October 30, that the name was changed to Punchard High School when the new building was built in 1871.

I graduated in 1896, and it was still called the Punchard Free School. I think that if you will consult the records of the town meeting March, 1902, you will find the report of a committee appointed in 1901, and the record of a vote, that it should be known as Punchard High School.

The trustees of Punchard Free School still function, and certain salaries of teachers are paid out of the income from the Punchard Fund which is still intact.

Yours sincerely,

C. Madeleine Hewes,

Porter Road

(Ed. note: While it is true that the school was not officially called a "high school" till 1901, it was known unofficially as such in, at least, 1871. Punchard offered a strictly high school curriculum from 1866, according to official school committee records. Even previous to the first meeting of the trustees, in 1851, it had been decided that it should be "virtually what is generally termed a High School."

However, Mrs. Hewes is right about the official title.)

To the Editor of the Townsman:

A letter from Ballardvale to Ballardvale is one cent. A letter from Andover to Andover is two cents. A letter from Andover to Ballardvale is three cents. If a letter for Ballardvale is mailed in Andover with only two cents postage, and comes down to Ballardvale in that shape, then the receiver is required to pay the extra cent; and unless sender and receiver are on terms of personal intimacy, the receiver is offended. Usually it does not pay the sender to have the receiver get offended.

I am informed that inadequate postage is apt to be found on the mail of drives—Red Cross drives, Americanization drives, and the like—which send out from Andover at the same time, a lot of letters for Andover and a lot of letters for Ballardvale, and use the same postage for all of them. Such drives, it may be supposed, want the people they are addressing to feel friendly. Well, if you want them to feel friendly, pay the full postage.

Clan Johnston Donates To Monument Fund

A donation was recently forwarded to the national headquarters in Boston by members of Clan Johnston, O.S.C., and its affiliated auxiliary, to aid in the construction of a monument to its founder, James McCash, in St. Louis, Mo. The monument, constructed of Vermont granite, takes the form of a 25-foot Celtic cross.

From all accounts, McCash well deserves a memorial. Coming here from Glasgow in 1865, he became affiliated with several fraternal societies, learned their system of organization, and drew up, from his extensive knowledge of Scottish history, a ritual for a new order of Scots in America.

From that small beginning, the order has spread until today there is a local clan in practically every industrial city in the United States and Canada. More than $6,000,000 has been paid its policyholders in life insurance, and millions more in sick benefits. Besides purchasing $77,500 worth of Treasury bonds and donating thousands of dollars for Scottish and British war relief, the O.S.C. will, as part of its 63rd anniversary celebration, purchase $50,000 worth of Defense bonds and donate a completely equipped ambulance to the British War Relief Society in St. Louis.

Christian Science Lecturer Advises Banishing Fear

"God has not given us the spirit of fear, but of power, of love, and of a sound mind," said Miss Margaret Morrison in a lecture on Christian Science delivered last Sunday afternoon in the Memorial Auditorium.

Expressing the belief that fear is only an illusion of the senses, Miss Morrison advised that, just as sheep turn towards their shepherd when anything unusual happens to alarm them, so should we destroy all our fears by placing our confidence in the power and love of God.

Union Thanksgiving Service

The annual Union Thanksgiving service will be held on Thanksgiving Day at the Baptist Church at 9 o'clock a. m. The Rev. Graham Baldwin of Phillips Academy will preach the sermon. DEATHS

One of Andover's oldest and most-beloved women, Mrs. Eva (Lyon) Fuller, 89, passed away last Thursday afternoon.

The widow of Rev. Augustus H. Fuller, who had been pastor of the Union Congregational church in Ballardvale for slightly more than 25 years, she had still taken an active interest in the affairs of the parish after his retirement in 1926. Rev. Mr. Fuller passed on several years ago.

Little acts of kindness and charity will make her long remembered by her friends. She took particular interest in helping the sick and needy among her neighbors, things done so unobtrusively that they were appreciated most by those who knew her best.

Her survivors include two brothers-in-law, Joseph Fuller of Salem, and Linwood Fuller of Everett.

The funeral was held from the Lundgren Funeral Home Saturday afternoon at 2:00. Rev. David I. Segerstrom, pastor of the Union Congregational church, and Rev.

Newman Matthews, minister emeritus of the West church, performed the obsequies. Interment was in the family lot in Spring Grove cemetery.

Sixty years a resident of Andover was Frederick J. Sutcliffe, 74, who died last Thursday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hennessey, 35 Shaw street, Lawrence.

His survivors include, besides his daughter, three sons, William, John, and Frederick, Jr., and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the home of his daughter, and were conducted by Rev. Frederick B. Noss, minister of the South church. Interment was in the family lot in Spring Grove cemetery.

St. Augustine's church lost one of its most constant attendants last Thursday afternoon, when Martin Callahan, 65, passed away at the Lawrence General Hospital following a short illness. He had made his home at 5 Summer street.

Abbot Academy Notes

If Old Man Winter will hold off long enough, Abbot's annual Fall Field Day will be held on Saturday. Since September the Gargoyles and the Griffins have been working hard getting in trim for the finals in tennis, hockey, and archery. Judging from the practice contests, the games will be closely contested.

The schedule for the day will be: Gargoyle-Griffin rallies at 10:30, mascots featured; tennis finals at 10:45 between Mary Bertucio (Griffin) of Springfield, and Mollie Hubbard (Gargoyle) of Erie Penn. It will be remembered that Mary Bertucio won the tennis singles last year. Mollie Hubbard is a new student. The hockey game will begin at 2:00. Archery finals will take place both at 10:45 and at 2:00 on the archery range behind Sunset Lodge.

The probable hockey line-up will be as follows:

A meeting for final awards will take place in connection with a school tea at which the Abbot Athletic Association council members will be hostesses.

On Sunday evening the Rev. Carl Heath Kopf, of the Mt. Vernon Church in Boston, will speak at the vesper service, 7:30 o'clock.

An exhibition of the paintings of Augustus Vincent Tack is now on display in the John Esther Gallery. Mr. Tack will be present in person at a school tea on Tuesday afternoon, when he will talk to the students about his works.

On Wednesday, November 19, the traditional Thanksgiving service will be held at 8:15 p. m. in the chapel. Present will be a few parents of students living outside of the Greater Boston area, which means that the space for other friends of the school will be limited. However, all are cordially invited to attend the service, and it is hoped that they may be comfortably seated. The faculty and students will enjoy a Thanksgiving recess on Thursday from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

On Saturday, November 22, Mr. Raymond Coon will give a piano recital in Davis Hall.

WEDDINGS

Winters-Rondeau

At a pretty wedding in St. Theresa's Church, Methuen, last Saturday morning, Miss Aldea Rondeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rondeau of 40 Smith street, Lawrence, became the bride of James R. Winters of 7 Elm court, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Winters. Rev. John B. Dion, S.M., officiated at the nuptial mass.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a white brocaded satin gown with a sweetheart neckline and a full skirt en train. Her finger-tip tulle veil was held in place with a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried gardenias and white pompons.

Miss Alice Rondeau was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Misses Judith and Alliette Rondeau. All are sisters of the bride. Edward Winters was best man, and John and Gerald Winters were ushers, all being brothers of the groom.

After a largely-attended wedding reception held in Cyr Hall, Lawrence, the couple left on a wedding trip to New Jersey and Maryland. They will reside in Lawrence.

The bride is a graduate of Lawrence high school. Mr. Winters is a member of the St. Augustine's church choir, and is affiliated with the C. Y. O. society of the parish.

Larrabee-Keay

At a pretty ceremony performed at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Whitman of Ballardvale road, Miss Euphemia S. Keay, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Keay, became the bride of James R. Larrabee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berkeley Larrabee of Ayer. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Herman C. Johnson, rector of the Free Church.

The bride was given away by her uncle, and wore a powder blue velvet costume with a corsage of pink roses. She was attended by Mrs. Russell Chase, sister of the groom, who wore a Nile green crepe dress with a mixed corsage of pompons.

Best man for Mr. Larrabee was his brother-in-law, Russell Chase.

After a reception for the immediate families held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Whitman, the couple left on a wedding trip to New York. On their return, they will make their home in Portland, Me.

The groom attended the University of Chicago, and is at present employed with the Boston & Maine railroad. The bride attended Pun-chard High School, and is a graduate of the Household Nursing Association in Boston.

Fitzgerald-Carmichael

A very pretty wedding took place at the bride's home recently, when Miss June Carmichael, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Boutwell of High Plain road, became the bride of Charles Kenneth Fitzgerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Fitzgerald of River road, North Tewksbury. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gordon S. Kenison. The couple stood before a rustic altar and a ribbon aisle was formed by the little Griffin twins, relatives of the bride's family.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white crepe with train and a veil of tulle. She carried white roses and mixed sweet peas. Miss Barbara Boutwell, as maid of honor, wore blue chiffon and carried pink roses. Miss Sophie Loosigan, who acted as bridesmaid, wore a sheer gown of aqua and carried talisman roses.

John Barker was best man, and Robert Carmichael, brother of the bride, acted as usher. Mrs. Eleanor Fitzgerald played the wedding march.

A reception followed the ceremony, after which the couple left on a trip to Maine. They will reside on River road, Tewksbury.

The bride is a graduate of Pun-chard High School and the Fanny Farmer School of Cooking. The groom graduated from the Tewksbury High School and the Lowell Vocational School, and is employed with the Johns-Manville Company in Billerica.

Hoffman-Hastings

The marriage has been announced of Kathleen Hastings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Hastings of Main street, to William Hoffman of Methuen.

The couple is now residing at 23 Brechin terrace.

Anderson-Coleman

At a largely-attended ceremony enacted at St. Augustine's rectory, Miss Marguerite Alice Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Coleman of 39 Enmore street, became the bride of Stewart Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of 4 Dufton road. Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A., was the officiating clergyman.

The bride wore an icing white bridal satin gown trimmed with Old English lace. A fingertip veil of double white illusion fell from a crepe de chine headgear, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and wisteria, with sweet peas fastened to white satin streamers.

Her sister, Miss Monica Louise Coleman, acted as maid of honor, wearing a cornflower blue taffeta gown with a sweetheart neckline and leg-of-mutton sleeves. Her finger tip veil of double illusion was caught up by a scalloped halo of debonnet, and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of blue delphiniums and maroon pompons.

Alexander Anderson, brother of the groom, was his best man.

The bride's mother wore an Erie blue costume with dubonnet accessories and a corsage of orchids. The groom's mother wore a dubonnet dress with an orchid corsage.

After a reception at the Crystal ballroom, the couple left on a wedding cruise to Virginia Beach, New York and Washington.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's high school, Lawrence, and the Essex Agricultural school. The groom attended Lowell Textile Institute and the New England Electric Welding Laboratories.

Paper Out Early Next Week Please Get Copy In Early

Next week's Townsman will appear on Wednesday afternoon because of the Thursday holiday. All those having items for the paper should have them in the office no later than Monday afternoon at four-thirty in order to be sure of publication. This is very urgent!

There has been a tendency on a part of too many persons who wish to put items in the Townsman to get them here as near the deadline as possible, the result being that it is very difficult to give all the items their true value. For the average issue appearing on Thursday, all items which can be in on Monday should be in at that time, and none any later than Tuesday at four-thirty. This allows time to set the items and also to include in the paper the late happenings which take place on Wednesdays and Thursday mornings.

Adventurers To Present Two Broadway Successes

During the coming season, the Adventurers, successful young dramatic society, plan to present two plays which have proved themselves smash hits on Broadway. The first one, "You Can't Take It With You," by Kaufman and Hart, will be staged on Tuesday, December 9, and the second, "Ladies in Retirement," recently made into a movie, can be seen on Friday, May 1.

The Adventurers invite Andover people to become associate members by the purchase of one or more tickets. Reserved seat subscriptions are priced at $1.65, including tax, and preference will be given to the earliest applicants.

The advance sale of tickets will close on December 1. Tickets may be reserved now by contacting Mrs. Grace R. Ryberg of 2 Stinson road.

Dahl, Not Dali, But Pleasant To Dally With

If you're travelling on a Boston street-car some day, and happen to see a medium-sized, mournful-looking man in a pencil-striped suit looking intently through the back pages of a newspaper, tap him on the shoulder and ask if his name isn't Francis Dahl.

You'll be interrupting his professional labors, but he probably won't mind it. That's the way he works, it seems; at least, that's the way he described it to us when we went up to see him last week, when he lectured before three hundred parents and teachers at the Memorial Auditorium.

Dahl's cartoons, on the funny page of the Boston Herald, have been one of its outstanding features many years. They deal with matters of topical interest, mostly connected with the government of small towns. At his lecture the other night, for instance, he drew one of his inimitable sketches on a blackboard, detailing how a certain small town tried to drive a flock of pigeons from the cornice of one of its public buildings by shooting fireworks at it. The first picture shows a ball from a roman candle landing on the cornice; a nearby pigeon is unmoved. The second shows a skyrocket whizzing past, the third a large aerial bomb bursting close by the pigeon's head. Neither has much effect on the bird's equanimity. But the last box shows a large set piece, reproducing the American flag and the words "That's all. Good night"—and the pigeon flies hurriedly away.

That sounds like great fun, of course, but how did he manage to get into such an unusual occupation in the first place? Did he study art. Nope, just fooled around with a pencil and paper when he was a boy, chiefly for the delectation of his doting parents. He had lived in Boston from his birth, going to school in Quincy and Wollaston, and started in with the Herald at the tender age of 18. Generally he filled in for the morning edition, contributing two or three cartoons a week if any space could be found for them. By the time the afternoon Herald was ready to come out, there was no room for Dahl's cartoon, and generally it was cut out of the edition.

About 14 years ago—he doesn't know, offhand, exactly when—the Herald started printing a comic page for the first time, and Dahl was given a regular spot in it. His cartoons have been a daily feature ever since.

In appearance, Dahl is just what you'd expect him to be—tall, slightly stooped, slightly bald. He speaks with mournful slowness, but has a quick wit and an air of greatly-overburdened tolerance.

"Any interesting experiences?" we asked him. "It's hard to say," he answered. "Hardly anything had been definitely uninteresting."
